ONLINE MASTER OF HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

The Online Master of Health Administration (MHA) program develops the leadership and management skills needed to navigate today's complex U.S. healthcare system. Woven into each course are themes of effective communication, ethics, equity, evidence-based management, leadership, and career development. This CAHME-accredited program leverages NYU Wagner's high-caliber faculty and resources and incorporates innovative tools and technologies, such as simulations, to provide interactive learning experiences.

NYU Wagner's Online MHA program is really interactive. You're taught by industry professionals who have years of experience. You're going to class with healthcare peers and they have unique perspectives on the industry that creates a great learning environment."

Dennis Liu (MHA 2021)

PROGRAM FEATURES

Flexible & Part-Time

Designed for working healthcare professionals to balance career and studies.

Engaging Online Learning

Join interactive virtual sessions that foster collaboration and connection.

Expert Faculty

Learn from leading researchers and industry professionals shaping healthcare's future.

Practical Curriculum

Gain hands-on skills to tackle real challenges in U.S. healthcare management.

ACADEMIC OVERVIEW

Over seven semesters, the program combines online coursework with one hour of weekly live discussions per course. Students also attend a required 2.5-day course at Wagner's NYC campus to meet classmates, alumni, and faculty. Graduates gain a deep understanding of the U.S. healthcare system, leadership and management skills, and the critical thinking needed to become senior healthcare leaders.
